The National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum is a place to honor the game. With over 35,000 three-dimensional artifacts in the Hall of Fame's collection, each visitor can get a glimpse of what makes baseball special to them. The Museum details the history of America's pastime. It is recommended visitors start on the second floor. First Floor Exhibits: Halper Gallery, Art of Baseball, Inductee Row, Hall of Fame Gallery, Baseball at the Movies, Scribes and Mikemen, Bullpen Theater and Sandlot Kids' Clubhouse. Second Floor Exhibits: Cooperstown Room, The Baseball Experience, Taking the Field: The 19th Century, 20th Century Baseball Time Line, Babe Ruth Room, Diamond Dreams: Women in Baseball, Pride and Passion: The African-American Baseball Experience, ¡Viva Baseball! and Today's Game. Third Floor Exhibits: Sacred Ground, Hank Aaron: Chasing the Dream, the Records Room, Autumn Glory: Postseason Celebration, Education Gallery and Baseball Cards.

Tips for Enjoying Your Hall of Fame Visit:

Please allow at least 3 hours to enjoy the Museum.

Cameras are encouraged!

Museum is wheelchair accessible and a limited number of wheelchairs available on first-come, first-serve basis.

No food or drink is permitted in the Museum.

After entering the Baseball Hall of Fame, people should have their hand stamped so they can reenter if they leave.

Close by to the Hall of Fame are shops and eating facilities.

The Induction Ceremony is held at the Clark Sports Center (outdoor area) on Susquehanna Ave just one mile south of the Hall of Fame. The time of the ceremony is usually around 1pm but time may change. The Old/Former inductees who are present are usually introduced first before the new inductees. There is no fee for the induction ceremony. There is a shuttle that operates between the Hall of Fame and the Induction ceremony but it is crowded. From the Hall of Fame to the Induction ceremony it is about a 15 minute walk.
