The Stourbridge Line in Honesdale

Board the train, relax and enjoy the ride the along the scenic Lackawaxen River, through the wooded beauty of the Poconos to the historic town of Hawley. As you travel along the tracks, you'll learn about American's first steam locomotive operation, which took place right in Honesdale, and about the D & H Canal and the Gravity Railroad. You'll also ride past the generating station by the hydroelectric dam and waters of Lake Wallenpaupack!

Waterfront at Silver Birches

Imagine what George and Rachel Singer thought in 1926 as they watched their farm, circa 1904, turn into a lake. By 1929 they determined that there would be a need for more tourism lodging and decided to build a fourteen bedroom inn complete with dining room and kitchen capable of serving a full house providing three meals a day. George Singer was not only a farmer and innkeeper but he also had a significant logging business in the area which was a growing concern so Rachel called upon her sister Marjorie Ehrhardt to assist with the inn. In 1943 Marjorie and George Ehrhardt purchased Silver Birches. The business continued to grow through the years and more land was acquired. The original 1904 farmhouse and barn were converted to more lodging for the sprawling resort. Before long the second Ehrhardt generation, Jerry and Alice joined the business. Alice and Jerry had three sons, Eric, Steve, and Craig. By the mid 1980's all three boys who grew up on property had completed their education with concentration in hospitality. In 1995, seeing a need to cater to large weddings and events in this beautiful setting, they further expanded the restaurant business by adding the large Waterfront Banquet Center. By 2015 three generations of Ehrhardt's had put in seventy-two years building the family business. But it was time to further evolve for the Ehrhardt's. Eric Ehrhardt and Justin Genzlinger put their heads together and devised a way for the growing Genzlinger family of businesses to acquire Ehrhardt's. With the acquisition came the passion of the Genzlinger's of historic preservation. The name of the business again became Silver Birches. The vision was to preserve the vintage lakeside resort but bring a new level of aesthetics to the property. 2016 saw a major renovation to the buildings and restaurant while preserving the original farmhouse and outbuildings but updating the restaurant, now known as The Dock. The Ehrhardt family has continued to work and consult with the Genzlinger's to enhance this beautiful gem on the shores of Wallenpaupack. Everything old is new again.

Motown Madness, Disco Fever and a Little Rock & Roll featuring Déjà vu

You rocked on the rails. Now let's rock on the dance floor with the stylish and versatile Déjà vu duo. They've performed at the Trump Plaza and other casinos in Atlantic City, and it's an opening act for major artists. Whether it's cheek-to-cheek slow dancing, or shakin' your booty, they've got the music for you!
