Baseball Hall of Fame & Museum

Baseball is more than just a game...it's a family experience that connects generations. It's an American tradition that holds a special place in the hearts and minds of fans, young and old.
It's the feelings and emotion behind the memories...

The Museum preserves history, honors excellence and connects generations. Beyond the iconic Hall of Fame Plaque Gallery are exhibits that tell the story of baseball's impact on our lives, and our country.

The Museum exhibits draw from a collection of 40,000 lovingly preserved artifacts and more than 3 million library items to bring your stories to life.

There is plenty for the hard-core fan to absorb. Plaques, stats, equipment donned by the game's greatest players, as well as important figures that many have now forgotten. There are uniforms worn on ancient fields and pieces of ballparks long faded from communities across the country.

Baseball is more than a game. It's America's story.

Tips for enjoying your Hall of Fame visit

- Please allow ample time to enjoy the museum
- Cameras are encouraged!
- Museum is wheelchair accessible and a limited number of wheelchairs are available on a first-come first-serve basis.
- No food or drink is permitted in the Museum
- After entering the Baseball Hall of Fame, people should have their hand stamped so they can re-enter if they leave.
- Close by the Hall of Fame are shops and eating facilities.

Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony

The Induction Ceremony

The 2022 Induction Ceremony will take place at 1:30 p.m. ET Sunday, July 24, on the grounds of the Clark Sports Center (outdoor area) on Susquehanna Ave just one-mile south of the Hall of Fame. The Old/Former inductees, who are present, will be introduced first before the new inductees. There is a shuttle that operates between the Hall of Fame and the Induction ceremony. The shuttle does get crowded; it is about a 15-minute walk from the Hall of Fame.
