 Guided tour of Lake Placid Olympic Venues

In Lake Placid, the Olympic flame burns 365 days a year, fanning the dreams of generations of local athletes who have come to train and compete on the world stage. As the “Winter Sports Capital of the World,” there’s no better place to experience a destination where some of winter sports history’s most legendary moments occurred.

Admission to Whiteface Mountain Memorial Highway

How many other roads do you know that lead you directly to the summit of a 4,867’ mountain, with gorgeous views spanning hundreds of miles of wildland reaching as far as Vermont and Canada? Nowhere else is the beauty and vastness of the Adirondack Park so apparent and so easily accessible. The paved road rises over 2,300 feet in five miles from the Toll House. At the summit, there are a few things you don’t often find atop a peak: a castle built from native stone, a restaurant and gift shop, an elevator carved deep inside the mountain top itself, and a truly spectacular 360-degree, panoramic view of unparalleled beauty. A visit to the Adirondacks is not complete without a drive to the top!
